Counting Crows is a rock band from Berkeley, California, formed in the mid-1990s. The group gained significant attention in 1994 with the release of their debut album "August and Everything After," which featured the hit single "Mr. Jones." Counting Crows' song "Colorblind" has been transcribed into a piano score. The user, danimrtic1, uploaded the arrangement to Muscorescore, where it has garnered attention and praise from other users. The song features a solo piano performance with a simple yet emotive melody that showcases the composer's skill and understanding of the original track. With 3822 hits and a rating of 4.64 out of 5 stars, this score has become a popular choice among pianists and fans of Counting Crows' music. The comment section is limited to a single entry, with user nicochambaret expressing a casual remark about not hitting the brakes in time. The score itself has garnered a significant number of views and favorites, with an average view count of nearly 4 thousand. It features genres and composer information, but these fields are currently empty. The score's visibility is set to public, allowing anyone to see it, and it does not have any specific licensing restrictions.
