However, my most recent visit turned out to be a disastrous experience. First and foremost, I arrived well in advance of my appointment time, eager to get my routine checkup done efficiently. I diligently completed all the paperwork and pre-tests as instructed by the nurse, wasting no time in doing my part to expedite the process. To my utter disbelief and dismay, my experience took a turn when the doctor finally graced me with his presence. Instead of a warm greeting or a professional demeanor, he dropped a bombshell: "We're not accepting new patients." Keep in mind that I was not a new patient; I had visited this practice before. So, the rejection was both bewildering and humiliating. Even more frustrating, the doctor offered a half-hearted apology and proceeded to deflect blame onto his staff, implying that they had wasted my time. I had spent a 1.5 hours waiting before I even got to see him, only to be told they couldn't see me. This is the pinnacle of disorganization and inconsideration. It's beyond comprehension that a medical facility, especially one with the word "Practice" in its name, could operate with such blatant incompetence. It's not just about my personal experience; it raises serious questions about their professionalism and commitment to patient care. In light of this dreadful experience, I strongly advise anyone seeking medical care to steer clear of Wrightsville Family Practice. The disorganization and the blatant disregard for patients' time and well-being are inexcusable. Frankly, I can't fathom how they manage to stay open with such a lackluster approach to patient care. Save yourself the frustration and disappointment and look for a more reputable and considerate healthcare provider in the area.
