It is true that the more you know about your own Proper, more feel affectionate about it. They may even feel more inconvenient when they use it in comparison with the previous one. Since I do not have an idea of what is the track of track of my answers and I am not really aware of which part I should focus on improving (gramatics, phrase structure), it would be really useful if you could give me a little comment. However, I believe that this type of strategies can cause negative consequences for companies, as it can disappoint consumers with products that do not align with the announcement. There are people who believe that the announcements are successfully leading us to the actual purchase. In this case, people who actually bought a new digital clock waiting for the Wow Point that has been covered in the announcement, for example, may not be able to relate and this will eventually lead to the decrease in re- Shopping and negative revisions. A4. TO 1. Not only the elderly, people from other generations that value the cover harder than online will still buy books visiting bookstores or libraries in the local city to feel the warm atmosphere and relaxing there. As people can access the news or books anytime and anywhere, for example, in the metricane on the way home, just clicking a few times on your smartphone or tablet, they do not feel the need to buy them Offline and more of them will do then, in the near future. Therefore, in Japan, for example, people actively use a particular website to verify the history of the buildings to see if there were cases such as suicides or murders. Other people think that advertising is common that we do not pay more attention to it. In my opinion, advertising can still move consumer minds, since it is evolving every day with several marketing analysis. (Cambridge 15 test 3) Some They say that advertising is extremely successful in persuading ourselves to stuff. More and more people tend to feel more closer to celebrities in social media in comparison with the past and this really leads them to buy more products to follow their lifestyles. A2. However, I think this phenomenon is not ideal as products that are not exactly the same with the announcement often result in great disappointment and less purchases most of the time. There are two main ways of exploring this by asking for the elderly neighbors or finding public library publications. As the real estate agency feels reluctant to disclose this kind of information, most of the time they tend to hide the negative news to potential residents. How can people research this? What extent do you agree or disagree with this statement? A3. Thank you very much. On the other hand, some do not agree on this as they think there is nothing special about advertising that drags the attachment of the public. What are the reasons for this? In fact, marketing strategies these days for various products such as accessories, dietary foods and beauty products are more focused on announcements, especially using influencers due to their enormous effects. Q4. In addition, some people are willing to explore the past to find out if there were undue incidents in the prime. I would kindly ask the band score and some fastback feedback for task answers 2. To conclude, I fully disagree with the opinion that no one will buy materials printed in the future and firmly believe That some people will still be willing to buy newspapers or books offline, despite the quick wave of online subscription services. Olha Mike. To conclude, some people may not believe in the force of the announcement, because they think it is not more attractive, however, I completely disagree with them. Since there is no one for me any feedback around me and I have a test in the next week, I'm really looking forward to this moment ... I know four four They are very much, but could you, please give a band score and feedback on them (where should I concentrate) when you have some free time? Why is that? To conclude, people want to look for the ancient history of the property to better recognize their value or discover the negative incidents that they were not aware of. To survive in the highly competitive market, increasing companies tend to focus only on showing unique features to draw attention without actually developing the quality of their products nowadays. However, I believe that advertising absolutely makes people feel a strong desire to buy something. This research can be made of several ways, and one of them is to ask the neighborhood that lived for a long time. The recent history of the house will be easily found on the site, however, it will be difficult to find some ancient online stories since they are not registered. Changing tendencies as advertising through influencers have made consumers easily relate to influencers in daily life and made them want to copy what they are buying. Corporatives usually emphasize as their merchandise is different from other brands to get the consumer's eyes emphasizing their special points in the Animances. This is because they want to differentiate their goods with other companies in the extremely competitive market and take the attention of the public. However, I believe that products that are not perfectly parallel with commercials can cause an adverse effect, giving real buyers a negative impression of both products and brands, such as exaggeration and fraud. Q3. The brands that are announcing their products usually highlight their unique point of sale these days. The elderly are responsible for most of them because they are not familiar with how to use the new services or do not have devices Nowadays, many people have newspapers or online books and these types of Signature services are rapidly expanding around the world. As I ask the residents who live in the longest or research using old publications, people may know the interesting story of their home. Some people suggest that printed versions of newspapers and books will be completely replaced by online, since no one would buy the prints in the future. For example, we can easily see people who just skip the announcements in the YouTube video or immediately turn off the TV channel after starting, because they are sick and tired - commercial announcements. For example, participating in activities or meetings of the community of construction residents can be useful to meet people who lived more and listen interesting news that do not reveal themselves to the public. In addition, another way is to find some fonts in the local library. Some say people in the future will not buy paper versions of newspapers or publishings as they can access them online without paying money. (Cambridge16 Test 2) In your advertising, companies nowadays usually emphasize that their products are new in any way. (Cambridge 16 Test 1) In some countries, more and more people are interested in discovering the history of the house or building they live. Q2. (Cambridge 15 test 2) In the future, no one will buy printed newspapers from books because they can read everything they want online without paying. Some residents try to examine the history of their own property to be more aware of their value and treat you more carefully. Due to the convenience that you do not need to visit somewhere to buy publications or have to bring heavy books - all people, the number of people who sign newspapers or books online is increasing day Day. However, this is not true for everyone. Since they spent more time living there, they should know more about the own The stories that surround you. To conclude, many corporations focus on advertising special parts of their manufacturers to get more spotlight in the market where many of the same things are being produced. For example, you may feel that the value of your home is even higher when you hear that a famous celebrity lived there for 5 years in the past. Therefore, looking for old publishings and newspapers in the past in the library of your city, it may be possible to explore some unknown stories about your home. Discuss these visions and give your own opinion. Despite the convenience of technological development, there have always been people who keep them to the analogue throughout history and there will be some in the future. Some argue that the announcements definitely help to convince consumers to buy things and some disagree with this suggesting that people do not care much about them, since there is nothing but nothing about it these days. Since there are so many announcements in similar products these days, some people do not find them interesting and realize observe them as a waste of time. Q1. In my opinion, although they are aware of the convenience of the online services, there will always be those who return to analogial publications due to unexpected inconvenience or to find some kind of nostalgic atmosphere that can only be felt On hardcover and offline places. However, I totally disagree with this and I believe that there is still the possibility that people find the prints on the spot, although they are well aware of these convenient services on sites. In fact, many people tend to ignore boring and normal announcements on YouTube, tend to attend an extraordinary to the end and even click on buttons for additional information. As tonnes of similar goods being announced through social media these days, unusual traces Consumers, eventually being connected to the actual purchase. A growing number of people is caring for information about what their place used to be in the past in some nations. Do you think it's a positive or negative development? People tend to be curious about history, for they simply feel more value and affections to their own home doing this or want to reveal the unknown accidents that have not been informed by the real estate agency. Agency.
